The afro comb

Felix and Felicity had a smooth landing on a planet that was soft, fluffy and full of afros (fluffy hair) and looked like a cloud. They heard crying and ran to see what it was. Running was quite hard because the ground was so soft. They ended up at the gate of a palace.

As soon as they got in front of the gate, it screeched opened and a guard lead Felix and Felicity to the queen of afros. The queen had the biggest afro and the biggest crown. She was crying and petting a dog. Felix and Felicity immediately asked what was wrong and the queen said she had dropped her afro comb when she was on the flight back from holiday in flat iron island and could not comb her hair.

The queen explained that she only had one brave explorer name Dumo and she need three people to find it. Felix and Felicity felt bad and thought it would be selfish to leave without helping or cheering up the queen. So, they decided to be the two other explorers and find the golden afro comb.

The queen gave them some gear and they were off on their new adventure. They started walking and ended up at a mountain, using the gear that the queen gave them they started climbing up the mountain of knots and when they got to the top they started climbing down. When they got to the bottom they started walking again to the see of hair products and they swam and found the comb. They brought it back to the queen and she was so happy and gave them a reward for helping her find her comb. Felix and Felicity said goodbye to Dumo and started their journey to a new planet.
